ASHRAE 90.1 TECHNICAL SEMINAR

TUESDAY, MARCH 24, 2020
and
WEDNESDAY, MARCH 25, 2020

The Philadelphia Chapter of ASHRAE is offering a comprehensive, in-depth and unique two-day program covering ANSI / ASHRAE / IES Standard 90.1 (2016) Energy Standard for Buildings (except Low-Rise Residential Buildings). A program of this magnitude and depth is not available anywhere else and at this low a cost. Registration is open to everyone interested, and especially members of AIA, IES, IALD, USGBC, and CSI. All presenters are the people who write and enforce the 90.1 Standard.

Location

Burns Engineering, Training Room
Two Commerce Square
2001 Market Street, Suite 600
Philadelphia PA 19103
215-979-7700

If necessary, due to capacity seating, the seminar may be moved to a nearby location at 23rd & Chestnut Streets.

Cost

$100 Chapter Member
$135 Society Member
$200 Reciprocal Society Member
$250 Guests

Registration fee includes both days and handouts.

A continental breakfast, lunch, snacks and refreshments will be provided.

Standard and Users Manuals for 2013, 2016 and 2019 are available for purchase. The books are available at a drastically reduced price when paid in advance with the conference registration. Ordinarily, these books sell to non-ASHRAE members for $166 plus shipping, and to ASHRAE members for $133 plus shipping.

PDH Credits

Eight (8) PDH credits are offered per day.
